Navy Identifies Deceased Sailor on NAS North Island

NAVAL AIR STATION NORTH ISLAND, California – The U.S. Navy identified Chief Personnel Specialist Demond Walker, of Virginia, as the deceased service member who was found unresponsive at approximately 5:50 a.m. Feb. 12, within the Commander Naval Air Forces building complex on Naval Air Station (NAS) North Island, California.

Navy Criminal Investigative Service and Naval Base Coronado Security are conducting an investigation into the cause of death, which has not been determined; however, there are no indications of foul play at this time.

Walker was an active duty enlisted service member assigned to Commander Naval Air Force Pacific, based at NAS North Island. He enlisted in 1995 and previously served several tours in Japan, including assignments to Carrier Airborne Early Warning Squadron (VAW) 115, Personnel Support Detachment Yokosuka, Strike Fighter Attack Squadron 192, Naval Forces Japan, and USS George Washington (CVN 73).
